(From the San Francisco Alta California, Nov. 21.1 Suicide of N. K. Lovett.

Mr. N. K. Lovett yesterday committed suicide, in a stable at the corner of Pacific and Jackson streets, by hanging himself to a beam. The life-less body was discovered at half-past one, when information was immediately communicated to the police, and subsequently to the Coroner. Mr. Lovett was a married man, and leves two vives and police, and subsequently to the Coroner. Mr. Lovett was a married man, and leaves two wives and one daughter. He was fren New York city, and aged 55 years. He came to this city in 1849, and was one of the first policaren appointed under Malachi Fallen. His first wife died in New York, and he again married. His second wife came to this State about three years ago, and after living with Lovett some time, cloped with a man named Moody, a carpenter, on Jackson street, with whom she is now living. At the time his second wife absconded she took from him about $3,000, all the money he had. He menaged, however, to collect together a small sum, with which he bought a ANKERS, CORNER OF MAIN is married to a gentleman in this city. She says that her father has been almost crazy since his last that her lather has been almost crary since his last wife left him, and that on Monday he asked her hasband to take possession of all his effects, in the event that he should die suddenly. He said his wife had led him a miserable life ever since his marriage, and at last she had left him, taking all his money and the $1,000 note. Shortly previous to his death he wrote a farewell note to his death he wrote a farewell note to his death he wrote a farewell note to his danghter, and then deliberately proceeded to end his life. Lovett was a spare made man, of gener-al respectability, but somewhat addicted to drink. The third wife testified before the Ceroner that Institute wife testined before the Coroner that Lovett had been a kind husband to her, except when intoxicated, and then he frequently threatened to take her life, together with that of his second wife and of Moody. She was afraid of him, which is her excuse for leaving him.

The inquest of the Coroner resulted in a verdict to the effect that the deceased came to his dauth a stated above.

A year and a half ago, there was some hot blood shown on the subject of the arrest of Censul Dillon. A singular fact in connection with this circumstance, is that the United States Marshal, Gen. Richardson, who made the arrest, was murdered within a few days of the settlement of the dispute which his own reports exting under of the dispute which his own prompt action, under direction of the federal Conri, in part gave rise to.

THE ARREST AND FLIGHT OF MEIGGS.—From one of the passeogers by the Asteria, from Chili, who spent several days at the residence of Meiggs, we spent several days at the resistence of axings, we learn that the report published here some days since of his flight to Buenos Ayres is incorrect. After the order for his arrest had boon issued, Meiggs went to Santiago, and by the interference of his friends the order was rescinded, and he was not arrested. Our informant states that the family of Meiggs were ignorant of the charges against him. That when it was known that the order he left here was on account of his failures, and that he could not live here after such reverses. He said to our informant that if he should come back here, he would not be the only guilty one in San Francisco connected with the affairs which are charged against him. He also says, after paying off his crew on landing at Chili, he had only $4,500 left.—Alta California, Dec. 5th.

Six Men Drowned.—A most lamentable acci-lent occurred on the 25th November, at Bidwell's dent occurred on the 25th November, at blowell's bar, at the Junctice, which launched six men into eternity. As the party who were working for Messrs. Hart & Co. were going to dinner, twelve of them got into a boat to cross the river. As soon as they left the shore the boat capsized. Only half the number succeeded in regaining the bank. The names of those who were drowned are as follows: Daniel Harray, John Rown Otis Wilson.

Gov. Morehead's Message.

A Governor's message is usually a very dignified and stately document, seldom readable, and therefore seldom read. It must be published, however, in all the uewspapers; for uobody will take a paper that doesn't contain the Governor's message, although few will wade through it. Mr. Morehead's message is, in most respects, like all other messages.

The Governor recommends a change in the arrangement between the keeper and the State.

V. Next comes our Militia system. It is in deplorable condition. The race of genuine militia Colonels, Captains, etc., is likely to become extinct, for musters are abolished. They were a great institution ouce, and have probably had their day.

The Governor has not a word to say about foreign influence; nor does he intimate that there is whole stock in trade of the Governor's party consisted of a war upon the Pope and foreign influence. It was an expost facto law imposed upon the brotherhood, and repudiated by the North with singular unanimity. In fact, the Uniou-saving part statement of the Governor. The famous third to apply to the British establishment at the Balize. This qualification is to be ascribed to the degree was taken by all the brethren, but its vague generalities did no good; it came too late. The result showed the folly of attempting to reform the sentiments and acts of men by oaths, and signs, and grips. In the very midst of pretensions to Americanism, the brethren were everywhere combining with the Abolitionist to fill Congress.

This qualification is to be ascribed to the fact, that, In virtue of successive treaties with previous sovereigns of the country, Great Britain had obtained a concession of the right to ont mahogany or dye-woods at the Balise, but with positive acclusion of all domain or sovereignty; and thus it confirms the natural construction and understood import of the treaty as to all the rest of the region to which the stipulations applied.

We congratulate the rest of mankind upon the fact that the Governor of all the Know-Nothings has admitted the truth that all the world sees—that the fell spirit has done its work in the American that the fell spirit has done its work in the American that the fell spirit has done its work in the American the fell spirit has done its work in the American the fell spirit has done its work in the American the fell spirit has done its work in the American the fell spirit has done its work in the American the fell spirit has done its work in the fell spirit has done lean party. If Richardson had all their votes, he would still be in a minority, and Banks can he elected without them, as we have no doubt he will be in a few days. Indeed, the anti-Nebraska party were agreed as to what they should do after organization, and how to do, or it we should have no nore delay; but there is a difference of opinion to THE DAILY DENOCEAT COSTS TEN CENTS be adjusted. Some wish the Missouri compromise restored; some wish to apply the anti-slavery provise to all the Territories of the United States thers perhaps prefer to wait, and compel the peoof Kansas to make an anti-slavery Constitution or remain out of the Union. These differences of opinion are embarrassing, and must be adjusted otherwise the "friends of freedom" may fall out by the way, and accomplish nothing. We think this is the real reason of the delay in organizing the House. They wish the coast clear before they start. We are the more inclined to twice as much as their contracts called for; we this opinion, inasmuch as some of the ablest antisanuot permit it any longer. See our published Nebraska men are fighting off an organization. These men do n't intend that a friend of the Nebraska bill, or one that pledges himself to let it alone, shall be elected Speaker. There are enough of them to elect Banks, or one of his faith, whenever they are ready. The editor of the Journal need not grow indignant, therefore when the opposition to the Democracy is mentioned; his little faction is not meant. They make a part of the opposition, it is true, but a very insignificant very. Banks and Scattering can at any time elect a Speaker, and on the great question that agitates the country they are united.

It is moreover true that on this same question most of the Northern men who vote for Fuller are ancommitted. They have adopted no platform It is uncertain how far they agree with Fuller commends that the Superintendent should live iu himself, or how they will vote ou any question Frankfort, and that the State should establish a that may come up in reference to our Territorial policy. These facts render the American party still more insignificant. They are too few to do any good, if so disposed; but if compelled to vote between Richardson and Banks, or hotween a thor ough Nebraska man and an opponent, it is very uncertain how they would vote. The national Know-Nothings, as they call themselves, have not men enough to take care of their own dignity, and that is so slender in quantity and quality that it is not worth much attention.

But here we have the confession that Know-Nothingism is a failure. Its great and leading object is not accomplished. The fell spirit is struck it down. What, then, is the use of Nothingism? It is failure and head in the fell spirit is struck it down. Europe and America, no possible act of such In-dians or their predecessors could confer on Great Britain any political rights, Great Britain does not allege the assent of Spain

To a renewed call by this Government upo reat Britain to abide by, and carry into effect, he stipulations of the convention according to its vious import, by withdrawing from the on or colonization of portions of the Central merican States of Honduras, Nicaragua, and osta Rica, the British Government has at length replied, affirming that the operation of the treaty a prospective only, and did not require Great Britain to abandon or contract any possessione held by her in Central America at the date of its

The reply substitutes a partial issue, in the place the general one presented by the United States. We steadily deny, that, at the date of the treaty, Great Britain had any pos-sessions there, other than the limited and peculiar establishment at the Balize, and maintain that, if she had any, they were surrendered by the conven-

This government, recognizing the obligations of ho treaty, has of course desired to see it executed in good faith by both parties, and in the discussion therefore, has not looked to rights, which we might assert, independently of the treaty, in considera-tion of our geographical position and of other cirmstances, which create for us relations to the entral American States, different from those of y government of Europe.

The British government, in its last communicaion, although well knowing the views of the Uni-ted States, still declares that it sees no reason why aconciliatory spirit may not enable the two govments to overcome all obstacles to a satisfactory adjustment of the subject.

Assured of the correctness of the construction of he treaty constantly adhered to by this govern-nent, and resolved to insist on the rights of the nited States, yet actuated also by the same lesire, which is avowed by the British government, emove all causes of serious misunderstanding tween two untions associated by so many ties nterest and kindred, it has appeared to me proper of to consider an amicable solution of the contro-

Therois, however, reason to apprehend, that, with reat Britain in actual occupation of the disputed pritories, and the treaty therefore practically null, ofar as regards our rights, this international dif ficulty cannot long remain undetermined, without involving in serious danger the friendly relations, which it is the interest as well as the duty of both ountries to cherish and preserve. It will afford ne sincere gratification, if future efforts' shall re-ult in the success, auticipated heretofore with sult in the success, auticipated heretofore with more confidence than the aspect of the case permits RECRUITMENT.

One other subject of discussion between the nited States and Great Britain has grown out of he attempt, which the exigencies of the war in thich she is engaged with Russia induced her to make, to draw recruits from the United States. nake, to draw recruits from the cinical States.

It is the traditional and settled policy of the United States to maintain impartial neutrality
during the wars, which, from time to time, occur among the great powers of the world. Performing ming the great powers of the world. Performing all the duties of neutrality towards the respective beligerent States, we may reasonably expect them not to interfere with our lawful enjoyment of its benefits. Notwithstanding the existence of such hostilities, our citizens retain the individual right nostilities, our citizens retain the individual right to continue all their accustomed pursuits, by land or by sea, at home or abroad, subject only to such restrictions in this relation, as the laws of war, the isage of nations, or special treatics, may impose; and it is our sovereign right, that our territory and arisdiction shall not be invaded by either of the olligerent parties, for the transit of their armics, the operations of their flacts, the lawy of fromps for their service, the fitting out of cruisers by or against either, or any other act or incident of war. And these undeniable rights of neutrality, individual and national, the United States will, under no cir-cumstances, surrough

In pursuance of this policy, the laws of the Uniboard their private ships for transportation; and lthough, in so doing, the individual citizen exp neutrality, nor of themselves implicate the govern-ment. Thus, during the progress of the present war in Europe, our citizens have, without national responsibility therefor, sold gunpowder and arms to all buyers, regardless of the destination of those rticles. Our merchantmen have heen, and sti and hy France in transporting troops, provisious and munitions of war, to the principal seat of military operations, and in bringing home their sick and wounded soldiers; but such use of our mer cantile marine is not interdicted either by the incrnational, or by our municipal law, and therefor law of nations, peremptorily forbids, not only for-eigners, but our own citizens, to fit out, within the limits of the United States, a vessel to commit stilities against any State with which the United States are at peace, or to increase the force of any armed vessel intended for such hostilities against a friendly State. Whatever concern may have been felt by either of the belligerent powers lest private armed crui-sers, or other vessels, in the service of one might be fitted out in the ports of this country to depredate on the property of the other, all such fear have proved to be utterly groundless. Our citi-zens have been withhold from any such act or purpose by good faith and by respect for the law. While the laws of the Union are thus peremp-tory in their prohibition of the equipment or ar-mament of belligerent craisers in our ports, they provide not less absolutely that no press, shell provide not less absolutely that no per within the territory or jurisdiction of the United States, enlist or onter himself, or hire or retain another person to enlist or enter himself, or to go beyond the limits or inrisdiction of the United States with intent to be enlisted or entered, in the as a mariner or seaman on board of any years of war, letter of marque, or privateer. And these right to raise troops for land or sea service in an other State without its consent, and that whether forbidden by the municipal law or not, the very attempt to do it, without such consent, is an attack on the national sovereignty.

such being the public rights and the municipal law of the United States, no solicitude on the subject was entertained by this government, when a year since, the British Parliament passed an act to provide for the enlistment of foreigners in the military service of Greas Britain. Nothing on the face of the act, or in its public history, indicated that the British government proposed to face of the act, or in its public history, indicated that the British government proposed to attempt recruiting in the United States, nor did it ever give intimation of such intention to this government. It was matter of surprise, therefore, to find, subsequently, that the engagement of persons within the United States to proceed to Halifax, in theBritish prevince of Nova Scotia, and there enist in the service of Great Britain, was going on extensively with little or no disguise. Ordinary legal steps were immediately taken to arrest and punish parties concerned, and so put an end to acts infringing the redress of wrongs complained of by this government. Spain has not only disavowed and sapproved the conduct of the officers, who illegally seized and detained the steamer Black Warrior, at Havana, but has also paid the sum claimed as indemnity for the loss thereby inflicted on citizens of the United States.

to you in due time. BRITISH RELATIONS-CONTINUED.

I repeat the recommendation submitted to the t Congress, that provision be made for the appointment of a commissioner in connection with Great Britain, to survey and establish the houndary line, which divides the Territory of Washington from the contiguous British possessions. By son of the extent and importance of the cour try in dispute, there has been imminent danger of collision between the subjects of Great Britain and the citizens of the United States, including their respective authorities in that quarter. The prospect of a speedy arrangement has contributed in the States and Russia of thitherto to induce on both sides forbearance to assert by force what each claims as a right. Continuance of delay on the part of the two governments o act in the matter will increase the dangers and ifficulties of the controversy.

Misunderstanding exists as to the extent, character, and value of the possessory rights of the Hudson's Bay Company and the property of the Puget's Sound Agricultural Company, reserved in our treaty with Great Britain relative to the Teritory of Oregon. I have reason to believe, that a ession of the rights of both companies to the Uni-ed States, which would be the readiest means of erminating all questions, can be obtained on reaonable terms; and, with a view to this end, esent the subject to the attention of Congress.

The colony of Newfoundland, having enacted the laws required by the treaty of the 5th of June, 1854, is now placed on the same footing, in respect o commercial intercourse with the United States, s the other British North American provinces. The commission, which that treaty contemplated, determining the rights of fishery in rivers and mouths of rivers, on the coasts of the United States and the British North American provinces, has been organized and has commenced its labors; to SOUND DUES.

In pursuance of the authority, conferred by a esolution of the Senate of the United States, assed on the 3d of March last, notice was given to nmark, on the 14th day of April, of the intenion of this government to avail itself of the stipn ation of the subsisting convention of friendship mmerce, and navigation, between that Kingdom and the United States, wherehy either party might, after ten years, terminate the same at the expira-tion of one year from the date of notice for that urpose.

The considerations, which led me to call the attention of Congress to that con rention, and in-duced the Senate to adopt the resolution referred to, still continue in full force. The convention atains an article, which, although it does not diectly engage the United States to submit to the nposition of tolls on the vessels and cargoes of mericans passing into or from the Baltic sea, duing the continuance of the treaty, yet may, by sibility, be construed as implying such submis-. The exaction of those toils not being justi-by any principle of international law, it beame the right and the duty of the United States to relieve themselves from the implication of en-gagement on the subject, so as to be perfectly free to act in the premises in such way as their public terests and honor shall demand.

I remain of the epinion that the United States aght not to submit to the payment of Sound nos, not so much because of the amount, which s a secondary matter, but because it is in effect he recognition of the right of Denmark to treat one of the great maritime highways of nations as a close sea, and the navigation of it as a privilege for which tribute may be imposed upon those who have cceasion to use it.

This government, on a former occasion not nnike the present, signalized its detormination to naintain the freedom of the seas, and of the great natural channole of navigation. The Barbary States had, for a long time, coerced the payment f tribute from all nations, whose ships frequented the Mediterranean. To the last demand of such payment made by them, the United States, al-though suffering less by their depredations than many other nations, returned the explicit answer, that we preferred war to tribute, and thus opened the way to the relief of the commerce of the world from an ignominious tax, so long submitted to hy he far more powerful nations of Europe. If the manner of payment of the Sound dnes differ from that of the tribute formerly conceded to the Barbary States, still their exaction by Dennark has no better foundation in right. was in its origin nothing but a tax on a common natural right, extorted by those who were at that time able to obstruct the free and secure enjoyment tit, but who no longer possess that power.

Denmark, while resisting our resertion of the sedom of the Baltia Sounds and Belts, has indin the subject, and has invited the governments nterested including the, United States, to be represented in a convention to assemble for the pursum to be paid as commutation among the governlevy the Sound dues. A second is that, if the onvention were allowed to take organizance of that articular question, still it would not be competent or deal with the great international principle inolved, which affects the right in other cases of erms of the proposition, it is contemplated, that the consideration of the Sound ducs shall be com-the consideration of the Sound dues shall be com-mingled with, and made subordinate to, a matter wholly extraneous, the balance of power among the governments of Enrope. While, however, rejecting this proposition, and nsisting on the right of free transit into and from the Baltic, I have expressed to Denmark a will-ingness, on the part of the United States, to share iberally with other powers in compensating her or any advantages which commerce shall hereafter derive from exponditures made by her for the improvement and safety of the unvigation of the of Great Britain, was going on various of little or no disquise. Ordinary legal steps were immediately taken to arrest and punish parties concerned, and so put an end to acts infringing the municipal law and derogatory to our sovereignty. Meanwhile suitable representations on the subject were addressed to the British Government.

Therenpon it became known, by the admission of the British government itself, that the attempt of the British government itself, that the attempt of the British government itself, that the attempt of the British government refused indemnification to the parties aggrieved until recently, when it was assented to, payment being promised to be made so soon as the amount due can be ascertained. Satisfaction claims for the arrest and search of the steamer El Dorado has not yet been accorded, but there is reason to believe that it will be, and that coase, with others, continues to be urged out

It is difficult to understand how it should have been supposed that troops could be raised here by Great Britain, without violation of the municipal law. The unmistakeble object of the law was to prevent every such act, which, if performed, must be either in violation of the law, or in studied evasion of it; and, in either alternative, the act done would be alike injurious to the sovereignty of the United States.

TREATIES.

Since the last session of Congress a treaty of amity, commerce, and navigation, and for the aurrender of fugitive criminals, with the kingdom of the Two Sicilies; a treaty of friendship, commerce and navigation with Nicaragua; and a convention of commercial reciprocity with the Hawaiian kingdom, have been negotiated. The latter kingdom and the State of Nicaragua have also acceded to a declaration, recognizing as international rights the principles contained in the convention between the United States and Russia of the 221 of July, 1854. These treaties and conventions will be laid before

TREASURY. The statements made in my last annual message especting the anticipated receipts and expendi-ares of the Treasury, have been substantially verified.

It appears from the report of the Secretary of the Treasury, that the receipts during the last fiscal year ending June 30, 1355, from all sources, were sixty-five million three thousand nine hundred and thirty dollars; and that the public ex-penditure for the same period, exclusive of pay-ments on account of the public deht, amounted to fifty-sixty million three hundred and sixty-five nousand three hundred and ninety-three dollare. Turing the same period, the payments made in re-surption of the public debt, including interest and premium, amounted to nine mil ion eight hundred and forty-four thousand five hundred and twenty-eight dollars.

The balance in the Treasury at the beginning of the present fiscal year, July 1, 1855, was eighteen million nine hundred and thirty-one thousand nine hundred and seventy-six dollars, the receipts implete which there is needed further appropria- for the first quarter, and the estimated receipts for the remaining three quarters, amonnt, together, to sixty-seven million nine hundred and eighteen thousand seven hundred and thirty-four dollars; thus affording in all, as the available reources of the current fiscal year, the snm of eighty-six million eight hundred and fifty-six thousand seven hundred and ten dollars. If, to the actual expenditures of the first quarter of the current fiscal year, be added the probable expenditures for the remaining three quarters, as estimated by the Secretary of the Treasury, the sum total will be seventy-one million two hunlred and twenty-six thousand eight hundred and forty-six dollars, thereby leaving an estimated balance in the treasury on July 1, 1856, of fifteen million six hundred and twenty-three thousand eight hundred and sixty-three dollars and forty-

The recommendations heretofore made for a partial reorganization of the army are also renewed. The thorough elementary education given to those officers who commence their service with the grade of cadet, qualifies them, to a considerable extent, to perform the duties of every arm of the service; but to give the highest efficiency to artillery requires the practice and stecial study of many years; and it is not, therefore, believed to be advisable to maintain, in time of peace, a larger force of that arm than can be usually employed in the duties appertaining to the service of the field and siege artillery. The duties of the staff, in all its various branches, belong to the movements of the troops, and the efficiency of an army in the field would materially depend upon the ability with which those duties are discharged. It is not, sein the case of the artillery, a speciality, but requires also an Intimate knowledge of the duties of an officer for the line, and it is not doubted that, to complete the education of an officer for either the line or the general staff, it is desirable that he shall have served in both. With this view it was recommended on a former occasion that the duties of the staff should be mainly performed by details from the line; and, with conviction of the alvantages which would result from such achange, it is again presented for the consideration of Congress.

POST OFFICE.

I have thus passed in review the general state of the Union, including such particular concerns of the federal government, whether of domestic or foreign relation, as it appeared to me desirable and useful to bring to the special notice of Congress. Unlike the great States of Europe and Asia, and many of those of America, these United States are wasting their strooth neither in foreign war nor domestic strife. Whatever of discontent or public dissatisfaction exists, is attributable to the imperfections of human nature, or is incident to all governments, however perfect, which haman wisdom can devise. Such anhjects of political agitation, as occupy the public mind, consists, to a great extent, of exaggeration of inevitable evils, or over zeal in social improvement, or mere langination of grievence, having but remote connection with any of the constitutional functions or duties of the federal government. To whetever extent these questions stabit a tendency menacing to the stability of the Gonstitution, or the integrity of the Union, and no farther, they demand the consideration of the Exentives, and require to be presented by him to Congress.

Before the Thirteen Colonies became a confederation of independent States, they were associated only by community of trans aliantic origin. by geographical position, and by the mutual ties of common dependence on the ability of the Declaration of independence, each State had 'full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract all ances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and thus, which interference from any other. In the language of the Declaration of Independence, each State had 'full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract all ances, establish commerces, and to do all other acts and thus, which in dependent states may of right do." The several Colonies differed in climate, in soil, in natural productions, in religion, in system of education, legislation, and in the forms of political administration; and they continued to differ in these respects when they vol of a Federal Republic of the free white men of the colonies, constituted, as they were, in distinct and reciprocally independent State governments. As for the suiject races, whether Indian or African, the wise enbrave statesame of that day, being engaged in notrawagant acheme of social change, left them as the were, and thus preserved themselves and their posterit from the anarchy and the ever-recurring civil war which have prevailed in their revolutionized kuropeacolonies of America.

When the confederated States found it convenient

the General Government direct access, in some r spects, to the people of the States as such, they proceeded to frame the existing Constitution, allorin steadily to one gaiding thought, which was, to delegat

It will be perceived, by the report of the Postmaster General, that the gross expenditures of the department for the iast fiscal year was nine million nine hundred and stry-ty-tight thousand three hundred and firty-two dollars, and the gross receipts seem million three hundred and six dollars; that the cost of mail serventy-four thousand nine hundred and six dollars; that the cost of mail serventy-four thousand nine hundred and six dollars; that the cost of mail serventy-four thousand nine hundred and the previous year. To every thoughtful friend of the Union—to the tree lovers of their country—to all who longed and labored for the full success of this great experiment of republican institutions—it was cause of gratulation that such an opportunity had eccurred to illustrate our edwencing power on this continent, and to furnish to the world additional assurance of the strangth and stability of the constitution. Who would wish to see Florida will a Enropean colony I who would rejoce to hair Texas as a lone star, instead of one in the galaxy of States! Once more the ution and the Union trimphel signally. The ritories were expansed without restrictions on unted point, and were thus left to judge in the ar for themselves; and the sense of Constitution proved vicorous enough in Congress not in providing the control of the contr

[Great excitement; members rising to their feet and exclaiming, "Give us his name?" "Who is he?" &c.]

Mr. Colfax made some further remarks, and concluded by renewing the motion of the gentleman from Kentucky, (Mr. A. K. Marshall.)

Mr. Whitfald said that, so far as he was concerned, he required no pledges from any gentleman; desired none, and asked for none.

Mr. Marshall state that, in submitting a proposition a few moments ago, that the House adjourn in order to give members time to investigate the charges made against one of the candidatos, he had leagues. You can be made chairman of the Committee on Printing, Lithographing, or Engraving," he replied. I said there was no such committee, and returned to my seat and took up the Manual, for the purpose of seeing if there was such a committee. I could not find it, and I asked blr. Humphrey Marshall if such a committee existed or not. [Langhter. He told me that there was such a committee. I thou went out again, and was such a committee. opinion that Mr. Whitfield was clearly elected a olegate from Kansas.

Mr. Fuller knew nothing about that case, and no reference to any rumors; that charges of a direct character had been made, and he trusted would be made again, and proved or disproved, upon this floor, that propositions had been made from a certain quarter to members of the Honse. It would be remembered that a few days ago the honorable gentleman from Ohio (Mr. Campbell), in declining very properly to be longer considered as a candlmake any such pledges, either to my colleague (Mr. Campbell), in declining make any such pledges, either to my colleague (Mr. Campbell), in declining very properly to be longer considered as a candl-dute, announced here, in the hearing of every genfew moments ago, and asked him if he would like to be chairman of a committee; but I did not say that I was authorized by Mr. Banks to offer him any such position.

A word of Shame "" and lameter in his own estimation, and making himself an object of the state of down in Kentucky, of whom he had heard, who set up to a very worthy, well-connected young lady, and when he was remonstrated with, and asked why he wanted to marry her, answered that he did not want to marry her either for love or money, but simply to degrade her family. [Langhter.] He had no reference to ordinary rumors, but charges directly made, and which, he had no doubt, could be abundantly proved; that, if they were proved, no gentleman of any party, in his opinion, could continue to give his support to the honorable geneman from Massachusetts (Mr. Banks).

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, said, in explanation, that e had never been approached by any member of longress to demand or exact a pledge from him; and that if any member had dared to approach him in that manner he should have committed the it be a sin, of kicking him out of his room. itled the sin, i

A considerable debate here sprung up, as to the rzes which had been made, or threatened to be made, against Mr. Banks, in which Messrs. Wash-burn, of Maine, A. K. Upon the subject of contested elections he held himself ready to examine into them fairly, and any runor to the contrary was utterly false. He would stigmatize as a chibitions. The exercises commenced with the presentation of a banner to the society, by a young ady, who made the following address; the appro priateness of which could not fail to be acknowl edged by all who witnessed the scene:

To you, brave members of the gallant band of Poakiewhamptimouserines, I hand this splendid banner, most expressly made, By ladies far, to grace your grand parade. Its gorgeous beauty scarce cou'd be excelled, For Greek or Roman, taul or Frank, ne'er held In battle's van—I do not mean to brag—But hang meif they marched to such a flag. It only could be matched by your Society; For I can truly say, with all sobriety, That such a diag, borne by such gentlemen, The world may never see the like again.

The fashions of the day, were burlesqued in ad-pirable style. The hoop movement was sustained by divers ladies whose garmonts were kept at tho proper degree of expansion by the use of sugar hog-head hoops; one lady, in particular, sporting and such position.

[A voice—"Shame?" and laughter.]

Mr. Millward—Mr. Clerk, I desire to ask the gentleman a question. I want to know if he did not come around to me a few moments ago, and ask mot come around to me a few moments ago, and ask mot cleave my seat and come out behind the screen. Riding upon a side-saddle and hugging the child to her breast, then turning up the posteriors of the innocent sufferer, and administering corporcal punishment to quiet its natural terrors at such a scene; then hugging the little innocent to her breast, as if to still its cries-the whole scene was irresistibly ludicrous, and showed no small share of dramatic talent.

There were many other incidents which we might enumerate, but our space forbids. We would now been in existance some twenty-five years, and seen three of their annual parades. The first was intended to represent the Heathen Mythology; the second, the class of humanity represented by animals, such as the lawyer by a shark, the dandy by a peacock, &c. This exhibition was inimitably fine-the masks and disguises being imported from Paris at an extravagant expense. Strange to say, the secret of the Cowbellions during so long a period has been imponetrable. The last exhibition the Cowbellions was a representation of the Olymllowing additional evidence taken before the pie Games. The spectacle was inimitable; the expense must have been enormous; and we mention the matter, not to excite emplation, but merely to suggest to our young friends that much may be accomplished by unity of design.

OYSTERS! Let bards sing the praises, in all of their phases, Of Frenchined Dishes, unwholesome as rare, Their tarks and their Jellies to cram in their belias— But naught in the world can with Oysters compare; Their dumplings and noodies and all such capoodles, Delicious and fine in their season may be; Their pot pie and chickens may go to the dickens me.

Let windy debaters 'twixt beaus and perlaters Kick up a dispute while disparching a meal, And some prejudiced bearer, who thinks he sees clearer, Sticks in a word edge-wise for turkey and yeal, Or preserves made of quinces, or custards and minces, Or small beer and cider, or sugar and tea; Ye gods and small sheets: they may all be delicious! But a plate of Quinterro's Oysters for Mary and me. To make them the richer have some wine in a pitcher, and pour catsup on the fried Oysters to so two their doom!

Then season with mustard, and let every sluggard Stand out of the way—we must have elbow room!

To see our spoons firings, it may be diverting. To those who such sights ecidom happen to see;
But they will discover, when meal time is over,
Four dozen have gone twist Mary and me!
